

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

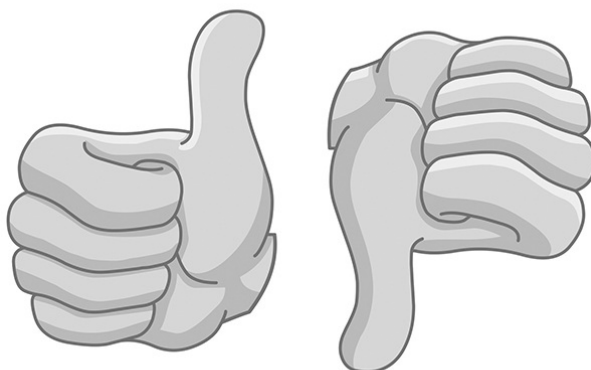

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

I don't agree with you!

Learning Outcome

Exchange advice and suggestions in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- What have you been doing with your friends lately?
- How often do you disagree with your friends when you are deciding what to do?
- What makes you not want to do something?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things I have done or have been doing.
- I can say when I'm not sure about an issue or an opinion.
- I can give advice.

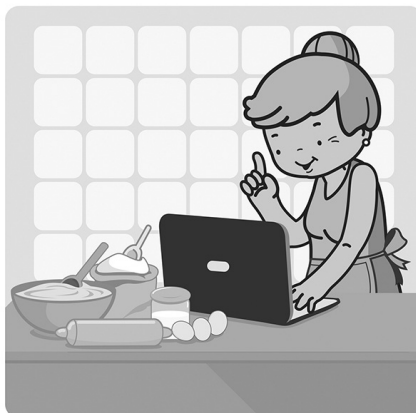

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is posting her rice dishes on her blog.

* You use the verb "to post" when you put images, audio, video or text on a website.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: I've been working on setting up my website in the evenings.
Sally: Have you talked with the designer?
Vanessa: Yes, she's great. She never made me feel bad about not knowing the technical stuff.
Sally: You should ask her lots of questions. It would be good to keep an online diary about it, too.
Vanessa: I'm not sure I want more writing.
Sally: Hmm ...
Vanessa: The web designer has been making my work easy since we started! The blogs have been flying out for a while now!
Sally: Have you had many hits?
Vanessa: Yes, I've had quite a few. What should I do about the comments?
Sally: You could comment back here and there. You should ask questions about how their stuff turned out.
Vanessa: Don't you think that could be bad if it went wrong?
Sally: No. Give advice. You ought to ask your followers for photos for the gallery.
Vanessa: Correct me if I'm wrong, but they could be terrible!
Sally: You should just post the good ones! You've been sorting through them, right?
Vanessa: Yeah. I'm going to post our rice dishes this weekend.
Sally: Everyone will love them!
Vanessa: I'm not sure I agree with you.
Sally: You can't worry about that. People like what they like. Just keep on posting.
Vanessa: Yeah. That's what I've been thinking.

Let's Practice!

Are you sure Sally?

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistakes. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. I'm not sore I want more writting.
2. Don't you think that cold be bad if it went wronb?
3. Corect me if I'm wrong, but they could be terrible!
4. That can't be righ.
5. Do you realy think saw?

Let's Practice!

Have you been busy?

Instructions: With their missing parts on Column B.

COLUMN A:

1. I've been working
2. The web designer has been
3. The blogs
4. Have you
5. She

COLUMN B:

- a. has never made me feel bad.
- b. have been flying out for a while!
- c. making my work easy.
- d. talked with the designer?
- e. on setting up my website.

Extension Activity

Talk and write about problems!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Give your friend advice about a problem they've been having.
- Write a paragraph giving your friend advice using modals.
- Read the paragraph to your friend.
- Discuss the advice given in the letter.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I give advice to a friend.

☐ ☐

I write a letter of advice.

☐ ☐

I review my paragraph.

☐ ☐

We talk about the advice in the letter.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- never (adverb): not at any time
e.g. She's never made me feel bad.
- technical (adjective): methods or skills for a particular activity e.g. I don't know much about the technical stuff to create a website.
- comment (noun): something you say or write e.g. What should I do about the comments the readers leave?
- hit (noun): a visit to a website
e.g. Have you had many hits on your blog?
- stuff (noun): things
e.g. Is all that stuff on the table yours?
- to post (verb): to put on a website
e.g. I'm going to post these pictures on my website.
- to sort through (verb): to look at and divide
e.g. I have to sort through the comments before I answer any of them.

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs. Present Perfect

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about an unspecified time in the past that is related to now or continues up to now. When you use the Present Perfect tense, the time when the action happened is not important.

When you use the Present Perfect Continuous tense, the time when the action happened is also not important.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about:

- experience up to the present
- change that has happened over time
- an event or action that happened in the past that is important now

You use the Present Perfect Continuous:

- to emphasize that action has continued without stopping until now and may still be taking place
- when we can see the result of an action that happened in the recent past, now

When you use the Present Perfect tense and the Present Perfect Continuous tense, you often use phrases or clauses for duration.

These phrases or clauses begin with for, in or since. They answer the question "How long ...?"

You can use since to begin a phrase or a clause (as a connector or as a preposition).

You use for and in to begin a phrase (as a preposition).

Present Perfect tense

Have you talked with the designer in the past few days?

She's never made me feel bad about not knowing the technical stuff.

Have you had many hits?

Yes, I've had quite a few since I started posting.

Present Perfect Continuous tense

I've been working on setting up my website in the evenings.

The web designer has been making my work easy since we started!

The blogs have been flying out for a while now!

You've been sorting through them, right?

Learning Points

Saying When You are Not Sure About an Issue

When you respond to an opinion, you don't always agree.

When you disagree with an opinion it is still important to use a polite response.

Look at these phrases and sentences:

I'm not sure ...

Don't you think that could ...

Correct me if I'm wrong, but ...

I'm not sure I agree with you.

I don't agree with you.

That's not entirely true.

Yes, but don't you think ...

Examples:

- I'm not sure I want more writing.
- Don't you think that could be bad if it went wrong?
- Correct me if I'm wrong, but they could be terrible!
- I'm not sure I agree with you about that.

