Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Exchange advice and suggestions in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- How often do you have dinner with friends?
- Do you stay in or go out for dinner?
- If you stay in, do you cook together or do you take turns making a meal?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about future actions.
- I can talk about cause and effects and hypothetical situations.
- I can talk about cooking and social activities.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is impressed!

* When you are "impressed" by someone, you admire or respect them.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: I have been looking forward to this dinner all week!
- Vanessa: If you learned to cook more dishes, you wouldn't always be hungry.
- Sally: If we both learned a bit more, Peter, we could whip up some food together.
- Peter: I've heard on the news that overcooked food dulls your appetite.
- Vanessa: I'm not sure about that. Although, if you overcook food it will be less exciting to eat.
- Sally: If we warm up our food again, won't it be overcooked?
- Vanessa: No. If you try out a dish, slice up the vegetables nice and thick so they'll cook slower.
- Sally: Uh-huh.
- Peter: Then they're going to cook less? They'll still be crunchy!
- Vanessa: Right.
- Sally: My cooking experiment starts tomorrow.
- Peter: I'll be coming over to help.
- Sally: Work starts at noon. Don't be late!
- Vanessa: You guys are actually going to do up your own food! I'm impressed!
- Sally: If we made something from Vanessa's blog we could take a picture and post it. If you comment on it, V, it will give other people the idea.
- Vanessa: You should do that!
- Sally: You can tell me how to make the dish so that I can cook it even better!
- Vanessa: Will you do that for me then?
- Sally: Sure. You pick out the easiest recipes and we'll try it.
- Peter: That sounds like fun!

Let's Practice!

Cooking with friends is fun!

Instructions: Read the sentences and circle the phrasal verbs.

1. If we warm up our food again, won't it be overcooked?
2. No. If you try out a dish, slice up the vegetables nice and thick so they'll cook slower.
3. You guys are actually going to do up your own food!
4. If we both learned a bit more, Peter, we could whip up some food together.

Let's Practice!

If we try, we can cook!

Instructions: Choose the words from the word bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Word Bank: we could take - could whip up - won't it be - you try out - learned

1. If you _____ to cook more dishes, you wouldn't always be hungry.
2. If we both learned a bit more, Peter, we _____ some food together.
3. If we made something from Vanessa's blog _____ a picture and post it.
4. If we warm up our food again, _____ overcooked?
5. If _____ a dish, slice up the vegetables nice and thick so they'll cook slower.

Extension Activity

Target Words

- to whip up (verb): to make quickly and easily
e.g. How did you whip up that dessert so quickly?
- to do up (verb): to create; package; put together
e.g. You could have someone else do up your meal!
- to slice up (verb): to cut with a sharp knife
e.g. Use this disc to slice up the vegetables with the food processor.
- to post (verb): to put on a website
e.g. I'm going to post these pictures on my website.
- to try out (verb): to experiment with; to test
e.g. I'm trying out different dishes this weekend.
- to warm up (verb): to make hotter
e.g. This one can warm up cold food too!
- overcooked (adjective): cooked too much
e.g. No more overcooked vegetables!

Learning Points

The First Conditional vs. The Second Conditional

You use the first conditional to talk about real situations in the present or future.

You use the second conditional to talk about unreal or imaginary (hypothetical) situations in the future.

First conditional form:

If + Simple Present verb, + will

If you come over, I'll help you with that.

(you can come over)

Second conditional form:

If + Simple Past verb, + would

If you had time, I would help you with that.

(I don't think or I know you don't have time)

First Conditional (Cause and Effect)	Second Conditional (Hypothetical Situations)
If you overcook food it will be less exciting to eat.	If you learned to cook more dishes, you wouldn't always be hungry.
If we warm up our food again, won't it be overcooked?	If we both learned a bit more, Peter, we could whip up some food together.
If you try out a dish, slice up the vegetables nice and thick so they'll cook slower.	If we made something from Vanessa's blog we could take a picture and post it.

Remember to use a comma (,) after the IF clause.

In conversation, it is common to use contractions. (I would = I'd).

Learning Points

The Future With Will, Going to, and the Present Simple

You can use three different tenses to talk about the future.

When you talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future, you use the modal will.

When you ask about intentions, you use be going to.

When you talk about things that are scheduled, like programs, classes, busses or trains, you use the Present Simple tense.

Deciding Now

I'll try that.

They'll still be crunchy!

Intentions

You guys are actually going to do up your own food!

I'm going to cook them less?

Schedules

It comes on in the early evening right?

It starts again next weekend and plays from 1:00 to 3:00.
