

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Where can I find the rice?

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe events in the news in a range of social and work contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about food and drink.
- I can talk about local and international news.
- I can ask for help or advice.

Ask your partner:

- What type of rice dishes do you enjoy?
- How many different types of rice have you tried?
- How many types are available in your local supermarket?

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is cooking her version of a recipe.

* A "version" of a recipe means a variation from the original.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: I've been reading up on the different types of rice that you told me about. Marleene, a journalist who works at the magazine with me, is doing a series which is entitled Rice Around the World. She'd be keen on doing a food article that covered your cookout.
- Vanessa: Really? I think 'cook-in' would be a word that describes it better. Excuse me, Miss. Can you tell me where to find the rice?
- Clerk: Rice is in aisle 3.
- Vanessa: Thank you. Come on Sally.
- Sally: There are so many kinds. How do you know which one to use?
- Vanessa: That depends on the dish. We want basmati, Japanese short rice and jasmine-scented rice. They're for my version of some recipes that I read about in an international newspaper.
- Sally: Hey! Here's the jasmine rice that I read about in Marleene's last feature!
- Vanessa: The others are there. Now we need coconut milk, mirin, and soy sauce.
- Sally: I'll find those. Oh Miss, can you tell me where to find some items?
- Clerk: Certainly. Where's your list? Hmm ... follow me.
- Vanessa: That was fast! Miss, I have one more question. How do I know which green tea powder makes the best cake?
- Clerk: I like to use this one. It has a nice aroma and the flavor is not too strong.
- Sally: Tea in cake?

Let's Practice!

What ingredients do Sally and Vanessa need?

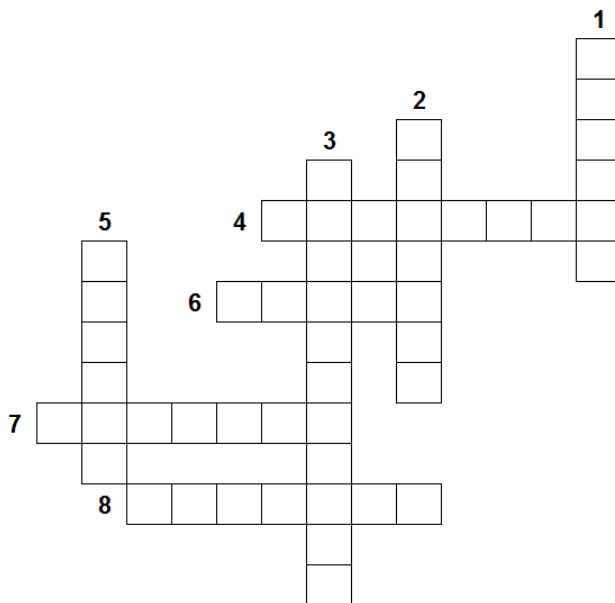

Instructions: Complete the crossword. Read the clue and write the correct word.

Down

1. How do I know which green tea p_____r makes the best cake?
2. We want b_____i, and Japanese short grain rice.
3. Now we need c_____k for the rice.
5. This rice has a really nice f_____r.

Across

4. Now we need mirin and s_____e.
6. It has a nice a____a and the flavor is not too strong.
7. She'd be keen on doing a food article that covered your c_____t.
8. Here's the j_____e rice that I read about!

Let's Practice!

Let's talk about the news!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistakes. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- 1) I've been reading up on the different types of rice who you told me about.

- 2) Marleene, a journalist she works at the magazine with me, is doing a series.

- 3) They're for my version of some recipes what I read about in an international newspaper.

- 4) Here's the jasmine rice it I read about in Marleene's last feature!

- 5) Marleene, a journalist, is doing a series what is entitled Rice Around the World.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue about cooking.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Describe a dish you have made at home.
- Write a dialogue about making the dish.
- Ask for advice about making the dish.
- Practice the dialogue with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I describe a dish I have made.

☐
☐

I talk about making a dish.

☐
☐

I ask for advice.

☐
☐

Target Words

- entitled (adjective): called; named e.g. She's doing a series that's entitled Rice around the World.
- cookout (noun): cooking food outdoors
e.g. We're having a cookout in the backyard this Sunday!
- basmati (noun): long grained rice from southeast Asia
e.g. We're having basmati rice with dinner tonight.
- jasmine-scented (adjective): sweet smelling
e.g. This white rice is jasmine-scented.
- coconut milk (noun): the liquid from inside a coconut
e.g. We add coconut milk to the rice after it's cooked.
- mirin (noun): rice wine for cooking
e.g. You use mirin in sushi rice.
- to read up on (verb): to do research about e.g. I'll have to read up on different types of rice before I choose one.
- soy sauce (noun): a dark brown liquid made from fermented soybeans e.g. Do you always have soy sauce on your rice?
- aroma (noun): a pleasant smell
e.g. The aroma of the meal made me even hungrier.
- powder (noun): tiny pieces made by crushing something
e.g. She got some green tea powder to use in a cake.

Learning Points

Subject and Object Relative Clauses

When you want to clarify which person or thing you are talking about, you use a relative clause.

You can begin a relative clause with who for people, which for things or that for either people or things.

You put the relative clause immediately after the noun it talks about.

A subject relative clause describes the subject of the clause.

Example:

The woman who/that lives next door to me brought me a cake.

The clause - who/that lives next door - refers to the woman. Who/that is the relative pronoun. It is also the subject of the clause. Who lives next door? The woman.

An object relative clause describes the object of the clause.

Example: The apartment which/that we rented was near the center of the city.

The clause - which/that we rented - refers to the apartment. Which/that is the relative pronoun. We is the subject of the clause. Apartment is the object of the clause. What did we rent? The apartment.

Subject Relative Clause	Object Relative Clause
I'll find these things that are on your list! (What is on your list? Things)	I've been reading up on the different types of rice that you told me about. (What did you tell me about? Rice)
She'd be keen on doing an article that covered your cookout. (What would it cover? Your cookout)	Here's the jasmine rice that I read about in Marlene's last feature! (What do you read about? The jasmine rice)

Learning Points

Asking For Help or Advice

There are several ways to ask for help or advice in English. You can use polite or casual language to do this. Let's look at one particular structure for asking for help.

You can use the structure:

Can/Could + you + show/tell + me + question word

Example:

Can you show me how to use this?

You can use the structure:

Question word + modal + I + verb

Example:

Where can I find the scented rice?

Example
Can/Could	Can/Could you tell me where to find some items? Can you tell me where to find the rice?
How	How do I know which green tea powder makes the best cake?
Where	Where can I find the rice?

