

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

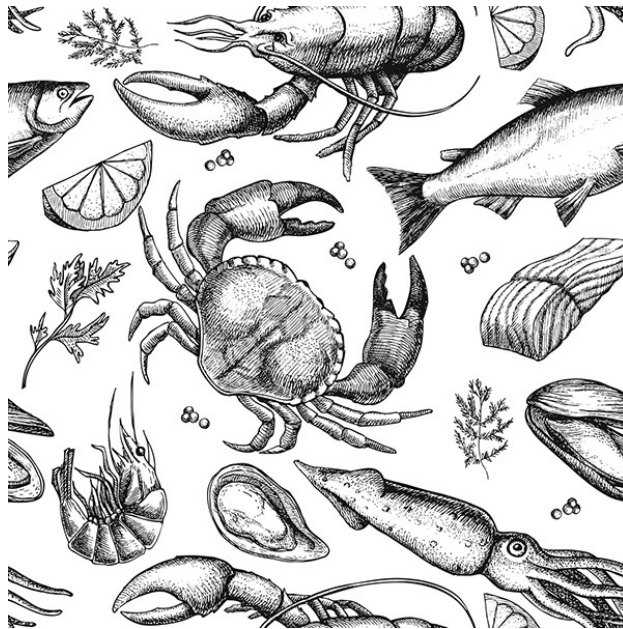

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Ewww! Squishy seafood!

Learning Outcome

Exchange advice and suggestions in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- How often do you eat seafood?
- How do you like it prepared?
- What do you eat it with?

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use the sound squ.
- I can describe how to prepare food.
- I can use proper intonation and stress in long questions.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa says that rice is a staple.

* A "staple" is a basic food that is often eaten daily.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Vanessa: Let's go along here. I want to get a rice cooker.

Sally: Wow. I've never tried one out.

Vanessa: I was thinking I could use it to whip up rice dishes quickly and efficiently.

Sally: Like what?

Vanessa: I have a recipe for squid that's chopped up, then mixed with herbed fried rice that looks delicious!

Sally: Squid makes me squeamish. Don't they squirt black ink?

Vanessa: There's a little sac of it inside them that you squeeze out.

Sally: Ick! Squishy seafood!

Vanessa: OK. Would squab stuffed with wild rice, cranberries and nuts be better for you?

Sally: I think so.

Vanessa: Acorn squash hollowed out and filled with zucchini and rice is also a nice staple.

Sally: What are we going to do after the cook-in?

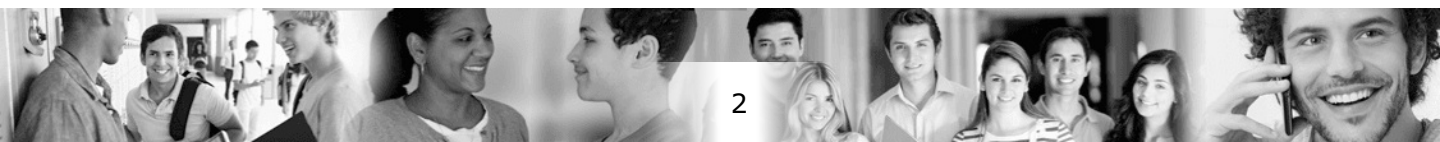

Vanessa: Could we listen to music and talk?

Sally: Marleene might leave early. Could we go out for coffee and see a movie or do a little window shopping?

Vanessa: Could we walk along the Charles River starting at Kendal Square and then listen to the buskers along the esplanade?

Sally: Could we end up coming back for some more of your green tea cake?

Vanessa: Sounds like we've come up with some good ideas!

Let's Practice!

The way you say it, shows your intention ...

Instructions. Read the sentences giving stress to the words in bold. Compare your intonation with your partner's. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. I was thinking I could use it to whip up rice dishes.
2. I have a recipe for squid that's chopped up.
3. A corn squash hollowed out and filled with zucchini and rice is a nice staple.

Let's Practice!

Ask me a question*, Sally.

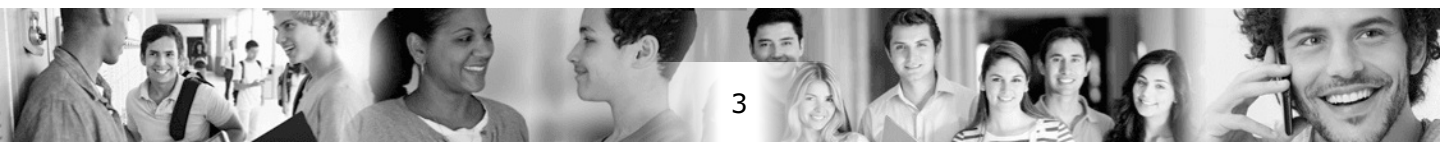

*In long questions we use a rising intonation at the end of a language chunk.

Instructions: Choose the words from the word bank to correctly complete the questions. Ask the questions to your partners. Write down their answers.

Word Bank

and nuts / to do / the square / for coffee / to music

1. What are we going _____ after the cook-in?
2. Could we go out _____ and see a movie or do a little window shopping?
3. Could we walk along the Charles River starting at _____ then listen to the buskers along the esplanade?
4. Could we listen _____ and talk?
5. Would squab stuffed with wild rice, cranberries _____ be better for you?

Extension Activity

Write a tongue twister.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Invent a tongue twister using the SQU sound. (For example, a P sound tongue twister: Peter piper picked a peck of pickled peppers)
- Write down the tongue twister.
- Practice the tongue twister by saying it 3 times in a row slowly.
- Try the tongue twister many times more quickly.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a tongue twister using SQU sounds.

☐ ☐

I practice the SQU sound slowly.

☐ ☐

I practice the SQU sound more quickly.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to whip up (verb): to make quickly and easily e.g. Let's whip up a nice dessert.
- squid (noun): a sea animal with a long body
e.g. I have a recipe for squid.
- to chop up (verb): to cut into pieces
e.g. Please chop up the vegetables.
- to mix with (verb): to combine e.g. The vegetables mixed with fried rice looks delicious!
- squeamish (adjective): feeling upset or nauseated by something e.g. Squid makes me squeamish!
- squab (noun): a young pigeon
e.g. You'd like squab stuffed with wild rice better.
- to hollow out (verb): to take out what is inside
e.g. Acorn squash hollowed out and filled with zucchini and rice is a nice staple.
- to squeeze (verb): to press something out e.g. You squeeze the ink out of that small sac.
- squishy (adjective): soft and wet
e.g. Ick! Squishy seafood!

Learning Points

The Pronunciation of Phrasal Verbs

Where do you put the stress in a phrasal verb?

If the phrasal verb needs an object, or is not separable, then you stress the verb.

Examples: taken with, go along

How long have you been taken with food and cooking? (taken with - is not finished without the objects food and cooking)

Let's go along here.

If the phrasal verb is separable, then the stress is on the particle (preposition).

Examples: whip up

I'll whip up a rice dish.

I'll whip a rice dish up.

Examples:

- Let's go along here.
- I've been into cooking in a big way.
- I've been reading up on the different types of rice.
- How long have you been taken with food and cooking?
- I've never tried one out.
- I could use it to whip up rice dishes quickly and efficiently.
- I have a recipe for squid that's chopped up.
- Acorn squash hollowed out and filled with zucchini and rice is a nice staple.

Learning Points

Pronouncing the Letters squ

When two or more consonants are used together they can make a new sound - a consonant blend.

In words with squ, you blend the s sound and the qu (kw) to make the squ (skw) sound as in squid and squelch. Note that sq is always followed by u.

Say these words out loud. Notice the blending of the sounds /s/ and /kw/.

squid	(skwid)
square	(skware)
squirt	(skwirt)
squab	(skwab)
squishy	(skwishy)
squeamish	(skweemish)
squeeze	(skweez)
squash	(skwash)

Now try saying these sentences out loud.

Squishy seafood!

Squid makes me squeamish.

Don't they squirt black ink?

I have a recipe for squid that's chopped up.

We could walk along the Charles starting at Kendal Square.